During the storm which seems now to have declared a recess the little wharf, belonging to the Young Brothers, on the sand spit near the mouth of the harbor, was washed away and the brothers were forcibly advised by the boisterous waves that it would be wise for them to shift their domicile on to more substantial ground, a little further back. This they will do and as soon as possible.

PHILIP J. THOMPSON HAS A BROTHER HIGH IN GOVERNMENT OF HONDURAS.

The Associated Press cablegrams yesterday told of an uprising in Honduras, Central America. That this was expected by the government for some time is the statement of Philip J. Thompson who is at present in this city, having returned recently from Honduras. Mr. Thompson is thoroughly conversant with the political conditions in that country as he has a brother there who stands high in the government.

"I was not at all surprised to hear of the outbreak there," said Mr. Thompson last evening. "I knew two months ago when I was there that there was trouble in the air. The government knew that a revolution was on the point of breaking out, but did not feel alarmed as they had considerable money in the treasury, and that is what always wins in those Central American fights."

"My brother told me that a revolution would strike there sooner or later and that he expected it about Christmas. An English syndicate wished to get hold of about 30,000 acres of land in the interior and they were making it their business to stir up the trouble. But they will be fooled for the government learned of their plans and were prepared."

"The revolution holds a position which in the states would be called general utility man. He is confidential secretary to the President. His business is to keep that fellow out of international controversy. A part of the time he is carrying on a warfare against yellow fever and the next minute he is doing detective work to learn of the plans of revolutionists. I visited him but the life was too strenuous so I got out. I have no doubt whatever but that the revolution will soon end and that the government will be victorious."

KAHULUI, Maui, January 2.—In place of the usual monthly literary in the Makawao district there was held on Friday evening last, December 28, a concert at the Maunaloa Seminary, or it might perhaps better be called a song recital by Miss May Ormerod, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Baldwin and Hugh Howell. All the numbers on the program were given by Miss Ormerod with the exception of a piano solo by Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, which was greatly enjoyed and in several of the solos, Mr. Howell played a violin obligato with his usual skill.

The program as rendered was as follows:

"Sunshine and Rain".....

Hawley Group.—Rose in Her Hair; Greeting. Sweetest Flower That Blooms.....

Day Dreams.....

Sognal (Japanese Song).....

Piano Solo.....

When the Heart is Young.....

Angel's Serenade, with violin obligato (by request).....

Sing me to Sleep.....

The Secret.....

Group.—At Nightfall. In Piccadilly. Absent.....

The Maid and the Rose.....

For All Eternity.....

Encore: The Gingerbread Man. Annie Laurie. Comin' thro the Rye.

Miss Ormerod was in good voice and all of the above selections were well rendered and received with much applause, and the evening was a treat to the many people present. Mrs. Baldwin's accompaniment was excellent and added to the pleasure of the solos. The concert was held in the large sewing room of the seminary, which was well filled with people from all parts of central Maui.

CENSORSHIP IN JAPAN.

The Japanese newspapers have changed their attitude to a considerable extent in regard to the San Francisco trouble concerning the putting of Japanese pupils in separate schools. At first the feeling seemed to be very anti-American. A note from the premier to the Japanese editors warned them that exploitation of the grievance of Japan against San Francisco would be unwelcome to the government.
